This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Eat Before You Are Examined.—Some of the candidates at board of pharmacy examinations act as if they are hungry when taking practical work. The recognition of specimens gives an opportunity and perhaps is a temptation to eat favorite drugs and drink acceptable liquids, provided the candidates have a special liking for such nourishment or stimulants. We have long felt that the average set of specimens given for recognition are unfair and unnecessary demands on the candidates. The proportion of specimens which might be recognized is usually reduced in actual work by the careless manner in which candidates eat and drink the samples. The sense of taste is soon dulled, not infrequently is headache induced, the nervous system is placed on a high tension and the candidates continue to nervously nibble this and sip that in a vain endeavor to associate some name with the sensation produced on the gustatory nerve endings.

Nearly all of the specimens that we consider legitimate for board examinations can be recognized at sight without exercising any other special sense. If the tactile sense is called into play by feeling the specimens, an additional number can be identified. With liquids, the specific gravity and other physical characteristics will aid in classifying the specimen among syrups, etc. Where necessary, the sense of smell may be brought into service. It should be cautiously used and not overtaxed. Only as a last resort should a specimen be tasted. The smallest possible amount that makes an impression on the sense of taste should be used. We have watched many applicants at work in an attempt to recognize medicines and we very seldom found one who went about the work in a systematic and intelligent manner.

There is an old saying that there is no accounting for taste. Perhaps that is the reason that so many candidates gulp down everything in sight. When it comes to a matter of taste, we find a sensation quite independent of either sight or smell, although physiologists tell us that odor and taste are closely related. The sight of raw oysters would never lead us to expect the delicious taste which pleases so many palates. When it comes to the sense of smell as a guide for taste, just think what would become of Limberger cheese if the smell had the decision? All the Limberger in existence would spoil before the sense of taste would have the opportunity of pronouncing the cheese "fine."

Deaths by Poisoning in Great Britain.—Notwithstanding the restrictions imposed on the sale of poisons and the care taken by pharmacists in observing the regulations, there is no diminution in the number of deaths caused by these substances in Great Britain. The annual report of the Registrar General, which has just been published, shows that during the year under review there were nearly eleven hundred deaths due to this cause independent of the large number of fatalities caused by food and industrial poisons. Of the eleven hundred deaths, however, 283 occurred during the administration of anaesthetics, but the remainder were due either to the accidental taking of poison in mistake for some other substance or were cases of suicide, the majority, or to be precise, 547, coming in the latter category. It would be extremely difficult if not impossible to prevent persons with suicidal intentions from procuring poisons and it would be a very wise person indeed who could suggest a practicable remedy even for diminishing the number of cases. An examination of the figures shows that opium (including the tincture and morphine) heads the list of poisons to which deaths by accident are attributed, the number being forty-eight; carbolic acid comes next with seventeen, and veronal next with twelve, ammonia with nine, hydrochloric acid with eight and the remainder of the accidental deaths being caused by various poisons, to none of which are attributed more than two or three cases. The list of suicides is headed by carbolic acid with 88 cases, and this is closely followed by hydrochloric acid with 86 cases and oxalic acid with 84; opium products were used by 52 suicides, potassium cyanide by 41, hydrocyanic acid by 36, and ammonia by 20. These are the main details of a most unfortunate state of affairs concerning which it is difficult to make any serviceable sort of comment.

The subject of deaths by poisoning is given more careful attention in England and the records studied with greater interest than seems to be the case in the United States. Professor Francis Hemm, at the 1914 meeting of the Mo. Ph. A., presented a paper based on the records of the coroner's office in St. Louis which elicited much interest and indicates what might be done by pharmacists in the way of studying the available records throughout this country.

Newspaper Information on Pharmaceutical Matters is not always reliable. A good example recently appeared in a Chicago daily paper which had the head line, "Pharmacy Tests Waived for $5.00." This referred to the State of Illinois and the article gave the impression that the Illinois Board of Pharmacy had waived examinations in consideration of the payment of money. The sum stated was certainly modest, for it costs much more than $5.00 in money, to say nothing of the wear and tear on the nervous system to take an examination. If money can be given in lieu of an examination, $5.00 would be a cut rate price, compartively below that at which medicines are ever sold, even by the most reckless cutter.

What the newspaper referred to was not as the head line intimated, a real graft, but the understanding between forty state boards of pharmacy which belong to the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy. A person registered in any one of the other states on the list, provided registration is by examination and the general average at least 75%, is entitled to reciprocity with Illinois. The board of pharmacy of that state, will, on presentation of sufficient evidence and the proper credentials from the N. A. B. P., recognize the examination which the candidate has taken in another state as being sufficient to secure registration in Illinois.

Such newspaper articles are misleading and cast a reflection on pharmacy in general. Perhaps the Chicago R. D. A. can secure publicity in the press of that city of an accurate statement of just what is meant by reciprocity.

Alcohol in Fruit Juices.—By a recent decision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture all fruit juices to which alcohol has been added must be plainly labeled to show this if they are to be shipped in interstate commerce after September 1, 1914. In the opinion of the Department, such names as "Peach Juice," "Cherry Juice," should be applied only to fruit juices which are unfermented and which contain no added sugar, alcohol, or other substances. In the past alcohol has been frequently added as a preservative to these preparations which are used for such purposes as flavoring beverages or preparing cordials. After September 1, however, goods that do not comply with the new ruling and indicate this fact on their labels will be denied entry into this country, and if found in interstate commerce, will be subjected to appropriate action by the authorities.

This new ruling is not likely to seriously inconvenience pharmacists maintaining a soda fountain department. It pertains only to goods in interstate commerce. It is, however, well to be familiar with the law and avoid any unnecessary complications.

Are You Pushing the Stevens Bill?—The Missouri Pharmaceutical Association and various other state societies as well as national organizations have unanimously endorsed the Stevens Price Standardization Bill, H. R. 13305. Many pharmacists are anxious to help along the good cause, but do not realize how useful they can be. For that reason, we give in separte paragraphs a half dozen suggestions as to the manner in which dealers can push the Stevens Bill.

1. Write letters to the United States Senators from your State, and the Congressman from your District, telling them that you favor the Stevens Bill, H. R. 13305, and urging them to vote and work for it. If you have already written but have received no reply, WRITE AGAIN. If your Senators and Congressmen do not say that they will support this bill, write once more.
2. Get your friends to write. They are interested in the prosperity of the home town.
3. Get your employees to write. Their livelihood is threatened.
4. Get the editors of your local newspapers to endorse the Stevens Bill. This publication will furnish you on application material for them to print. Send marked copies of papers to your Senators and Congressman.
5. Get your business associations to adopt resolutions strongly urging the enactment by Congress of the Stevens Bill and send copies to your Senators and Congressman.
6. Report to manufacturers of goods handled by you if prices are cut. Send them clippings of unfair cut price advertisements.

The Typhoid Season is Here.—Typhoid fever is a preventable disease. It need not exist and only ignorance or carelessness permits of its being communicated from one individual to another. A means of prophylactic vaccination is now understood, bu this should not be an excuse for carelessness. Th presence of typhoid in the army is almost unknown This is due to the strict sanitary conditions. I our great cities, we are careless and typhoid some times becomes epidemic.

Flies are a common means of conveying the i fection to food, which in turn causes disease. It i probable that calcium hypochlorite in as weak solution as one part in twenty-five millions wi destroy the disease germs in drinking water. Th disinfectant of water, however, is not the only pr caution taken. The destruction of flies and th keeping of excreta and food well protected fro flies are important precautions.

Pharmacists should talk with their physician about typhoid fever and co-operate with them i educating the community.

No More Guaranties on Insecticides.—As migh have been anticipated, the government has followe its ruling, which prohibits the use of the seri number and guaranties on foods and drugs, by similar action regarding insecticides. On and afte May 1, 1916, it will be illegal to label an insecticid "Guarantied by....., under the Insecticid Act of 1910." What is more, the Department c Agriculture notifies the public that the presence c a serial number either as a guaranty legend on food and drugs or on insecticides and fungicides in n way implies that the government has tested or a proved such articles or guarantees them to be i compliance with the federal law. The governmer proposes to undertake a vigorous campaign of ed cation so that the public at large will understan that an article of food or drug or an insecticide ma be true to label and a legal article of commerc without being of high grade.

The Plague Will Be Controlled.—Early in Jul the announcement was made that the Buboni Plague had made its appearance in New Orlean The Public Health Service at once instituted a sy tem of work which is certain to eradicate th plague. With our present knowledge of the mean of spreading the disease by rats and the co-oper tion which the public now gives the Public Healt Service there is no danger of an extended spread c the disease from the city where it has made its a pearance.

The Bubonic Plague probably antedates our hi tory. It was a scourge in early times because th nature of the disease was unknown and the publi unwilling to follow sanitary rules and regulations.

The Two Conventions of special interest to pha macists which occur in August are the N. A. R. D at Philadelphia, August 17, and The A. Ph. A., a Detroit, August 24.

THE WORLD IS A PERPETUAL RE-BEGINNING.—A ne idea should not be a novel idea. It must be the ide which has the best chance to make its way in our e isting civilization. It must be adapted to moder needs.

The A. Ph. A. returns to Detroit, Mich., August 24, after an absence since 1888. Preparations are being made for a hospitable reception with instructive entertainment and facilities for the transaction of much business.

A Far Fetched Explanation of the custom of colored show globes in drug stores has been made by a French hydropathic physician. He says that looking at the bottles in the window makes the passer-by look so ill that his friends force him to go into the store and buy medicine. Have you ever noticed a case of this kind?

What Appeals to Me Most.—If I were to pray for a taste that would stand me in stead under every variety of circumstances, and be a source of happiness and cheerfulness to me through life, and a shield against all ills, however things might go amiss, and the world frown upon me—it would be a taste for reading.—[John H. Brown, Atchison.

A Texas Prescription was given the pharmacists of the state by C. E. Kelly, mayor of El Paso, when he welcomed the Texas Association. He said, "to 100 pure city add 500 parts personality from the busiest bees in the Texas drug trade. Shake well and take hourly doses during the Texas Ph. A. This is guaranteed to produce considerable happiness and no headache."

An Infant is a child under one year of age. The Public Health Service has great difficulty in making this understood. The average person confuses the current year of age with the completed year of life. Many infants less than twelve months old are returned at the census as being one year of age. This causes an understatement of the infant population and gives a wrong basis for the estimation of infant mortality.

Pharmacuetical Conventions would be more largely attended if pharmacists could spare the time or realize that a convention may be made an occasion for a vacation. We are living in an age when an ancient song is very appropriate. The sentiment runs as follows:

"Could a man be secure
That his days would endure
As, of old, for a thousand long years,
What things might he know!
What deeds might he do!
And all without hurry and care."

Chewing Gum Sales.—It is estimated that 300,000,000 packages of gum are sold annually in the United States, each containing on an average five pieces. These placed end to end, would extend 71,025 miles, or nearly two and one-half times around the world. If stretched into a thread one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, this gum would extend a distance of 497,875 miles, or from the earth to the moon, wrap three times around that satelite, and back to earth again.

Wilhelm Bodemann, in spite of the hot weather, finds time to write. The following is a paragraph from a recent contribution to the Druggists' Circular: "Who can help the druggists except themselves? They could accomplish wonders if they stuck together. But have they done so on any proposition? Would we have pay 'phones today—if the slot machines did not compel the druggist to make the patron pay up? They agreed to insist on pay—only to break the agreements on the sly, just as they do about maintaining decent prices, and then holler about jobbers and manufacturers oppressing the downtrodden."

Prehistoric Man as a Sculptor.—Prof. Capitan now finds that prehistoric man was able to model in clay with considerable artistic skill. We are already familiar with the remarkable cave drawings of animals which were made at such epochs, but this appears to be the first time that we have evidence of models in relief. He found these in a cave in the Ariège district of France, and two bisons are thus reproduced in high relief. Among others, are engraved animals upon stones, all seeming to date from the Magdalenian epoch, or about 30,000 years ago. Animals instead of men were probably drawn for purposes of incantation, so as to give power over the animals, and some are seen pierced with an arrow.—[Scientific American.

Patient and Painstaking.—The railway system of St. Louis recently placed in operation a universal transfer system. The general manager, Captain McCulloch, in a notice to the public said, "We expect conductors to be patient and painstaking and request of our patrons that they be equally patient until on both sides every one becomes familiar with the use and application of the new transfer." The pharmacist cannot ask his customers to be patient and painstaking, but he can see to it that his clerks follow his own good example in being careful and painstaking on all occasions. Nothing goes further in securing and maintaining the confidence of the community than careful and painstaking attention to the perplexing duties of a pharmacist.

What is Safe Drinking Water?—In order to say that a drinking water is hygienically safe one must be assured that it contains no pathogenic bacteria. The efficiency of water purification plants varies from day to day and from hour to hour, and an opinion upon the absolute saftey of a given water supply can not be rendered unless many bacteriologic analyses, made at short intervals during each 24 hours, show an absence of the Bacillus coli. While an absolute dictum is thus most difficult to secure, it is not difficult to determine, by daily bacteriologic analyses, that a water does or does not give a reasonable index of safety. Instead of attempting to find the germs of typhoid fever, Asiatic cholera, and dysentery in water, we accept the presence of the Bacillus coli as an index of pollution with sewage, for the reason that the chances of finding the Bacillus coli are very much better than the chances of finding the specific germs in the small quantity of water examined.

Your State Has a Poison Law.—Are you acquainted with the provisions of the same? If not, we suggest that you write to the secretary of state, obtain a copy of the law, carefully read it and post the same in your prescription case. Remember that ignorance of a law is no excuse in a court of justice.

Is Cancer on the Increase?—There are those who believe that cancer is increasing in frequency throughout the civilized world. There are those who doubt that there is any actual increase. Those who believe it is increasing usually base their opinion upon the greater frequency with which it has been given in recent years as a cause of death. Those who question whether we have as yet any dependable evidence that the disease is increasing believe that the greater frequency with which it is given as a cause of death is due probably to a more widely disseminated knowledge among people in general regarding the disease and more particularly to improved medical training and increased ability on the part of physicians to recognize the condition. —[Public Health Reports.

That Our Present Foreign Trade is far short of its immediate possibilities is evident from a consideration of its area, commerce, and other economic factors in comparison with that of other leading countries, as set forth in comparative tables published in the "Statistical Abstract of the United States, 1913," compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Thus the present export trade of the United States (2½ billion dollars) represents about $25 per capita. A per capita basis equal to that of Argentina would raise the exports of the United States to 5 billion dollars; and one equal to that of Belgium would bring its exports to 10 billion dollars a year; while our aggregate foreign trade, when upon a per capita basis as large as that of Canada, would be considerably over 13 million a year.

To Prevent Getting Fatigued.—Errand boys become tired even when their packages are not heavy. The information we are about to give is not intended for them. It is a Frenchman who has devised a means of lessening fatigue when carrying a heavy weight in the hand, such as a valise. He states that when such a package is carried a considerable distance, the fatigue is due largely to the fact that the package hinders the movement of the lower limbs. He has found a way to prevent this inconvenience, which is as simple as it is practical, and all that is needed is to put under the arm a bulky packet, which is made up of a dozen newspapers folded together. In this way the handbag is far enough removed from the legs so as not to hinder walking with ease. He says that the fatigue is much less and the weight appears to be lighter.

The High Food Value of Olive Oil is a subject to which attention has frequently been directed in consular reports and in bulletins of the Department of Agriculture, and the cultivation of the olive in California has already assumed important proportions. The domestic production of olive oil has not, however, been sufficient to meet the demand in this country, and a large proportion of the consumption is supplied by the imported article. Italy is the chief source of supply, imports from that country ranging from 2½ million gallons in 1909 to 3½ million in 1913. Of French olive oil the imports have ruled slightly under 1 million gallons annually, last year's total having been 933,000 gallons, compared with 350,000 gallons from Spain, 227,000 from Greece, and 125,000 gallons from about sixteen other countries, including Turkey, England, Scotland, Canada, Cuba, Austria-Hungary, Germany, Netherlands, Portugal, and Tripoli.

The Chinese Wood-oil Tree is the subject of a circular by David Fairchild recently published by the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry, the purpose of the publication being to advocate an extensive cultivation of the tree in this country, where it has been grown in a small way since 1906. The importance of this recommendation is shown by the fact that five million gallons of wood oil (also known as tung oil), made from the seeds of this plant, was imported from China last year, and the product is said to have had a revolutionary effect on the varnish industry of the United States. It has, says Mr. Fairchild, largely taken the place of kauri gum and has made possible the manufacture of a quicker drying varnish, which is less liable to crack than that made from kauri gum, and has been found of special value in waterproof priming for cement. The tree is climatically adapted for cultivation in the Southern States, and the Department of Agriculture is distributing one-year-old specimens to bona fide experimenters.

Freezing a Patient to Cure Him of Consumption.—Freezing of living persons is the somewhat heroic remedy proposed by the Russian scientist Bachmetieff, for the Koch bacillus is killed at 6 deg. Cent. below freezing point, it being the cause of tuberculosis, so that by congealing the person affected with the disease the microbes are all killed. Then he brings back the subject to life by a very gradual re-heating. He has already succeeded in applying his method to various animals, such as the rat and others, by producing artificial respiration in them at the same time that the freezing process is going on, and he thus produces suspension of life by cold, which is of great interest to science and may also prove of much utility. Freezing of cattle in winter would thus preserve them without food, and they could also be transported over great distances when in this state. Many other applications of the idea can be imagined. Of course, the method has not as yet been applied to the larger animals nor to living persons, but in principle this does not appear to be impossible, and it now remains to be proved whether a human being can be actually frozen and then brought back to life.—[Scientific American.

PUBLIC EXPRESSIONS

Read This Before You Write.

Contributions on subjects of interest to the pharmaceutical profession are always welcome. Write upon but one side of the sheet and spell out in full the names of medicines; never use abbreviations. The editor pays no attention to anonymous communications.

Rocky Comfort, Mo., is said to have been named after Rocky Comfort, Ark., by an old southern mule driver who purchased mules for the southern cotton market.—[Dobbs & McDonald, Rocky Comfort, Mo.

Can We Stop the Peddlers?—The itinerant venders of medicines should either be stopped or compelled to pay a heavy license. Every farm house in this section of Missouri is a patent medicine drug store. We should not allow peddlers to go about prescribing medicines. All physicians are compelled to comply with the Medical Act. Why not have the peddlers pass the board of pharmacy, the same as the rest of us have done. I think the law-makers should treat all of us alike.—[W. B. Adcock, Washburn, Mo.

Pharmacist or General Merchant.—It looks to me as if the pharmacists in Illinois should take down the drug store sign and put up that of general merchant. Pharmacists are required to register and comply with every provision of the state pharmacy law. They are vigorously prosecuted if they fail to observe the statutes.

General merchants claim that they are at liberty to handle drugs as they please, just as long as they are classed as general merchants.

I would like to see some of these people down here in Egypt made acquainted with the fact that the moon really does change.—[Philip Feaman, Cutler, Ill.

Call on the Postmaster.—I am just learning how it feels to be a postmaster. I have been associated with pharmacy since about 1880. During that period I have served as clerk, traveling salesman and proprietor. Those things familiar to a pharmacist have so long been in view that I now miss them. Of course, I am willing to forego the hours of a drug store.

Being a postmaster may look very easy to one outside, but we have our own troubles and tribulations. I am, however, striving to please the patrons of the office and trust that when my term has expired all will feel that I have faithfully served.

I extend an invitation to all pharmacists and particularly to my classmates (St. Louis College of Pharmacy, 1884), to call on the postmaster when they visit Hot Springs, Ark.—[Robert H. Smiley.

Are You Guilty of Such Talk?—The following are the first paragraphs of the "Newspaper Game" by F. R. Gruger, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Paraphrasing it by substituting the term "drug business" for "newspaper business," it would be an exact account of pessimistic talk which I hear every day.—[Burrows.

One of the rights guaranteed under the Constitution is that every American shall have full privilege to think and say his own particular business is a poor business and that he would have made a much greater success in any other line of endeavor. Newspaper men exercise this right unreservedly. There never is a gathering of reporters or editors that the talk does not eventually shift round to the lack of reward, the hopelessness as to future, and the general worthlessness of newspaper work as a career. Usually, too, the youngsters are the loudest in condemnation. After a boy has been a reporter for a year he thinks he knows all there is to know about his work, and maybe he does. At any rate, he tells you what a barren field journalism is, that it gets a man nowhere, and that for the brains and service required a man in any other profession would make much more money and much more reputation. Men older in the business talk about the same.

Now I do not contend a man can get rich or even well-to-do in newspaper work except as an owner; but I do contend that if a man has an aptness for the business and will take the time to learn it, he can do about as well as if he went into any of the other professions.

Desert Flora is Interesting.—Those who live far away from the desert sections of the United States do not realize how interesting the flora is, not only for botanists, but all lovers of nature. After the rainy season, the landscape is particularly attractive. It is then that the desert blooms as a rose and many strange and beautiful varieties of flowers are everywhere apparent. The wild rose occurs in great profusion and scents the mountain sides. The flowering willow has a fuchsia-like bloom and makes very fragrant the Arroyas. In company with these plants are found the Columbine, with large yellow instead of the usual red flowers. The stranger is astonished with the profusion of the mountain pink, Maricopa lily, white and orange poppies, wild verbena, violets, daisies of all colors, the yucca, the thorny ocatilla, a giant desert kind of stramonium and endless varieties of cactus with their tropical blooms and delicious fruits.

The pharmacist finds many herbs, roots, leaves and flowers of medicinal interest. Some of these do not have much more than a local reputation, such as flores loco, gordo lobo and manzanilla; hierbas manza and chuchupati; hojas nogal; raiz de negrita and osha; palmita and chia seed and many more. We advise pharmacists visiting the West to study the flora of the sections through which they pass.—[Edward Mitchell.

Cultivating Mint in Japan.—The primitive plow, the fine ox and the snow-capped mountain of Fujino-Yama, in the background, are features of the photograph. The bulk of the mint grown in Japan is mostly cultivated on the sides of the hills, but that grown on low-lying ground, which can alternately be used for rice, is the richest in crystals. Although mint is grown in various parts of Japan, the best oil is produced in Okayama and Hiroshima Prefectures, where three crops are obtained—viz.: May, June and August. The first crop yields on distillation an oil containing about 47 per cent of menthol, the second about 53 per cent and the third about 60 per cent. In Yamagata Prefecture two crops are obtained and in the Hokkaido only one, but the acreage planted in the Hokkaido is far larger than that in the other districts, so that even though Hokkaido oil contains only about 45 per cent of crystals and there is only one crop, more than half the menthol comes from that province, which, it will be remembered, was devastated by famine recently. The process of distilling the oil is the same throughout the different producing districts. It lasts four hours and 82 pounds of dried herb of the first crop should produce 14 ounces of oil, of the second crop 24 ounces and of the third crop 21 ounces of oil. These figures, of course, vary, depending on the quality of the herb and the extent to which it is dried.

It should be mentioned, that the second crop is the most plentiful—a field, for instance, which will produce 300 pounds of herb for its first crop, will give 800 pounds for the second and 600 pounds for the third crop. It is perhaps of interest to note that, roughly speaking, one acre produces 5,000 pounds of dried herb, which should produce 80 pounds of crude oil. The the British well-known and rich firm, M. Samuel, Samuel & Co., which sells its product, which is of prime qua brand "SAMISEN."

In the Okujoto, Bingo and a few other districts there are "Peppermint Guilds," which examine the oil and g as to its weight and purity, but from many districts the refiner has to take his chance. When the oil has been d Yokohama or Kobe, as the case may be, the menthol and oil are put separately in tins of 5 pounds each, 12 in a ready for export.

It need hardly be pointed out that the oil is of an inferior character as compared with English and Americ but all the same it enters into cheap confectionery to a large extent and competes with the better-class oils.

Referring to the above mentioned informations, we beg to add the following statistics, which will also intere

Read This Before You Ask a Question.

Many questions are thrown in the waste basket each month on account of the correspondents failing to give name and address. The editor has a large basket for such questions. Write questions on separate sheets and on but one side of the paper. No questions will be answered by mail. Spell out in full every word; never abbreviate the names of medicines.

Plant Names.—Where can I procure a book giving the English translation of the Latin and Greek names for all herbs, medicines and drugs?

COMMENT.—We suggest that you order from Nelson, Baker & Co., Detroit, Mich., a copy of Plant Names, Scientific and Popular, by Dr. A. B. Lyons, the honorary president of the A. Ph. A.

Radium in the Treatment of Cancer.—It would require much space to review current medical literature on this subject. Perhaps we can best answer your inquiry by quoting from an authority who says, "We shall not work brilliant victories with this new weapon but it will help us to gain, step by step, in our persevering and insistent siege against cancer."

Aphrodisiacs.—I have many calls for aphrodisiacs in powder form. My trade does not seem to take kindly to pills. What should I dispense in powder form?

COMMENT.—We are unable to advise you. In fact, the traffic is one not to be commended. Cases requiring attention should be in the hands of the physician.

Mother Tinctures are prepared with equal parts by weight of the juice of fresh plants and alcohol. The fresh plant is pounded into pulp and then placed in linen cloth and subjected to pressure to remove the juice. The expressed juice is then mixed with an equal weight of alcohol well shaken and allowed to stand for eight days in a cool place. The liquid is then filtered. As will be noted, such a tincture represents 50 per cent of the drug.

How to Make a Maggot Trap.—The Department of Agriculture says: "A large galvanized iron pan, measuring 5 by 3 feet, with sides 4 inches high was made. In this stood a container on legs 8 inches high. This container measured 4 by 2 by 2 feet. The sides and bottom were of heavy wire, ¼-in. mesh, supported by a light wooden framework. Twelve cubic feet of manure well infested with eggs and larvae were placed in this container and sprinkled with water. Water was also poured into the pan below to the depth of about one inch. Surrounding and covering both pan and container was a fly-tight enclosure made of a large cage, 6 by 6 by 6 feet. This prevented further infestation of the manure, and an arrangement of traps at the top of the cage made it impossible to capture and keep a record of any flies that might emerge. At the time for the emergence of flies the sides of the cage were darkened with black cloth in order to drive the flies into the traps at the top. Each day the maggots were collected from the pan and counted, and each day the manure in the container was sprinkled thoroughly with water and the pan was washed out and again partly filled with water to drown the larvae which fell into it."

To Preserve Cider.—A pint of powdered wood charcoal, put in a small cotton bag and then into a barrel of new cider, will prevent fermentation, and the longer such cider is kept the more palatable it will become.

The following scientific method of treating cider to preserve its sweetness is recommended: When the saccharine matters by fermentation are being converted to alcohol, if a bent tube be inserted air tight into the bung, with the other end into a pail of water, to allow the carbonic acid gas evolved to pass off without admitting any air into the barrel, a beverage will be obtained that is fit nectar for the gods.

A handy way is to fill your cask nearly up to the wooden faucet when the cask is rolled so the bung is down. Get a common rubber tube and slip it over the end of the plug in the faucet, with the other end in the pail. Then turn the plug so the cider can have communication with the pail. After the water ceases to bubble, bottle or store away.

The addition of 154 grains of bismuth subnitrate to 22 gallons of cider prevents, or materially retards, the hardening of the beverage on exposure to air; moreover, the bismuth salt renders alcoholic fermentation more complete.

II.—Calcium sulphite (sulphite of lime) is largely used to prevent fermentation in cider. About ⅛ to ¼ of an ounce of the sulphite is required for one gallon of cider. It should be first dissolved in a small quantity of cider, then added to the bulk, and the whole agitated until thoroughly mixed. The barrel should then be bunged and allowed to stand for several days, until the action of the sulphite is exerted. It will preserve the sweetness of cider perfectly, but care should be taken not to add too much, as that would impart a slight sulphurous taste.

Turbid Cider is said to be the best clarified with catchu solution, 21 pounds, dissolved in two gallons of water, for 325 gallons (imp.) of the cider.

The Druggists' Circular in commenting on cider preservative says: Now that we have so many food laws, state and national, board of health ordinances and other safeguards to the public health, the question of adding preservatives to things intended for our insides, or, rather, the insides of others, is a more important one than ever. Such things as one ounce of salicylic acid, or two ounces of ground black mustard seed, or one ounce of oil of wintergreen, to twenty gallons of cider, have been recommended as preservatives. Calcium sulphite has also been used. As to the wholesomeness and legality of the use of these preservatives, that is another matter, although it would seem that the addition of mustard seed to cider would be as little objectionable as anything of this kind could be.

PRACTICAL PHARMACY

By Francis Hemm, Professor of Practical Pharmacy, St. Louis College of Pharmacy.

Old German Commercial Weight.—On some old German prescriptions (recipes) which every now and then turn up for the American druggist to fill, occur the following weights: "Loth and Quentchen." According to "Brockhaus'ches Conversations Lexicon," a quentchen is the one-fourth of a loth.

A loth is 16.6 Grams and this figure is obtained by dividing the 500 Gm. pound by 300, which gives the figure 1.66 Gm., and this constitutes the 1/10 of a loth.

Therefore a loth would equal $10 \times 1.66 = 16.6$ Grams.

This is a trifle more than the ½ ounce Apothecaries' weight.

The quentchen being ¼ this much, or 4)16.6(4.15. This makes it a little more than the Apothecaries' dram.

In practice ½ ounce is used for the loth and 1 dram for the quentchen.

German Names of Drugs.—What is the English translation of the following list of German names of drugs?

Original.

1 Quent Alowe.
1 Quent Zittwerwurzel.
1 Quent Lerchen Schwam.
1 Quent Edler Rhabarber.
1 Quent Lewant. Safran.
1 Quent Enzian Wurz.
1 Quent Venetischer Theriak.

English Translation.

Aloes—one dram.
Zedoury root—one dram.
White Agaric—one dram.
Select Rhubarb—one dram.
Levant Safron—one dram.
Gentian root—one dram.
Venetian Theriac—one dram.

N. B.—For Levant Safron, Crocus Sativus may be given.

For the mediaeval Therac with some sixty constituents we dispense today: Confectio Opii, U. S. P. 1870, which consists of one part of powdered Opium in thirty-six parts of a mixture of Aromatic Powder and Honey.

In Using Gibbs' Hollow Coco Butter Suppositories, is it best to mass the ingredient or put in dry such ingredients as P. Ext. Belladonna, Hyoscyamus, Opium, Cocaine Hydrochloride, Powdered Camphor Gum, etc.?

Will the ingredients be absorbed dry as well as they would be massed?

COMMENT.—Authorities on this subject say that ingredients dispensed in hollow Cacao butter suppositories, if dry and neutral or non-irritating, can be placed in the cavity dry.

If, however, the medicament is in any wise irritating, it should be mixed with about half of its bulk of grated Cacao butter before filling in. Regarding the extracts of Belladonna, and Hyoscyamus, we would first soften the mass extracts (prefer these to powdered extracts for suppositories) in a small capsule placed on a water-bath with a little dilute alcohol, just enough to render the extracts fluid a syrup and free from little lumps; then add to enough grated Cacao butter contained in a mortar and mas the extracts and then fill into the cavity of the sup pository.

With extract Opium we would proceed the sam way, except that we would use water to soften down the extract in place of diluted alcohol.

Cocaine hydrochloride can be massed with grate Cacao butter in mortar and filled in.

Oleate of Cocaine would be an improvement fo hydrochlorate.

Powder Camphor first, dissolve in a little melte Cacao butter and stirring until cool. Then transfe to the suppository cavity.

We lean most favorably to the massing idea fo this form of medication and believe the effects wil be much more uniform and diffused.

Saturated Solutions.—How can a standard solu tion be made of a substance by taking into consider ation the molecular weight?

COMMENT.—If by this question is meant:

How can Normal Volumetric Solutions be mad by taking into consideration the molecular weigh of a substance? We append the following:

By taking the amount of substances correspond ing in valency with hydrogen (univalent) in gram weight that the molecular weights sum up to, t make 1,000 c. c. of volumetric solution.

Thus KOH molecular weight = 55.74, being univalent compound, dissolve 55.74 Grams in enough pure distilled water at the temperature of 25° C to make 1,000 c. c.

This forms the Normal Volumetric Solution K O H For all univalent elements or compounds follow the same rule, provided, that this amount of substance will dissolve in stated amount of distilled water.

In case it does not a tenth normal strength solution can be made, in which case 10 c. c. of the solution will contain as much substance as 1 c. c. of Normal Solution would contain.

If the substance is bivalent, then only half as many Grams as equal its molecular weight are taken for 1,000 c. c. to make the Normal Volumetric Solution.

If the substance be trivalent, only one-third the Gram weight is taken for 1,000 c. c.

If the substance be quadrivalent, only one-fourth the Gram weight of its molecular weight is dissolved in the 1,000 c. c.

Quinquivalent substances, only one-fifth the molecular weight in Grams are taken, and so on for Sexivalents, Septivalents, etc., etc.

We see no relation between Saturated and Standard Solutions.

If our reply is not what was wanted, come again.

BE CAREFUL of those cases of "just a little sore throat;" a culture will many times show that diphtheria is present.

COLLECTION DEPARTMENT

Our readers are invited to send sample letters and comments on the art of collecting, for publication in this department.

Watch Your Credit Accounts closely and do not be afraid to say "No" to the man who has got in further than he can crawl out. There is nothing to be gained by throwing good money after bad.

We Simply Just Keep After Them.—We have no regular form of letters for collecting money.—[The W. E. Houck Remedy Co., Sedalia, Mo.

We Make Collections by Mail, but have never employed a follow-up system of letters. We send out statements once a month. Occasionally, we write a personal letter to some one who is a little slow. —[Ralph L. Wardin, Nevada, Mo.

How I Collect My Bills.—Your articles on collections seem to advise the buying and using of a set of dunning letters to be sent out to your debtors one at a time, also the buying and reading of certain books on collections, these books containing several hundred letters to be used by the different collectors.

In the first place, I think it is a useless expenditure of time and money to issue and send these letters to your customers. During the past 14 years we have used them at different times and at no time have we found that the amount collected paid for the postage let alone the cost of printing the series.

I would like to ask you, brother druggists, if your account with your jobber is past due, do you get a letter marked number one and in ten days another marked number two, giving you the impression that number three was on the way? No, you got a decidedly friendly letter along with the statement giving you the impression that the sender was a friend of yours and wanted to help you in every way.

Is there any reason why we as retailers should not use the same methods? Isn't it business to send a man a statement when his account is due, and follow it up in ten days with another request?

Run your collections the same as your jobber does. Possibly it will take some time to educate your customers, but it will pay in the long run and your customer will get to expect a statement and there will be no hard feelings and your business stability will be strengthened instead of weakened.

When your farmer customer gets to know that you collect from him the same as you do the rest of your customers he won't complain.

But there is a system which is far better than all the letters, all the statements and that is personal collecting. Go after them individually. Get in touch with them, study them, know your man before you approach him.

Did you ever watch a traveling salesman present a bill? He presents it in a most gentlemanly way. Is willing to help you in any way he can, anyway he gives you that impression. He is very polite, is a gentleman in every way. Doesn't lose his temper and if he don't get the money he don't get angry. Can't we do the same?

When you make out your statements itemize them. Have every legal and moral right on your side. Don't give him any loop hole of escape. If he puts you off till Saturday, see him Saturday. Stick-to-itiveness and personality are wonderful helps in collecting. All men cannot be approached the same. Don't give him the idea that you question his honesty. Don't overcharge him. If you thought enough of his credit to sell him the goods, you surely thought you could collect the bill afterwards, and there is no occasion to overcharge him just because you thought his credit a little shaky.

Again, when you meet a debtor, no matter how old his account is, speak to him pleasantly, talk to him as if he didn't owe you a cent. Don't dun him every time you meet him. Don't give him the impression that you are thinking of his account every time you see him, you can readily believe that he is thinking of it if you are not, and in nine cases out of ten he will dun himself before you get through talking to him.

I am personally acquainted with a merchant of this town who exemplifies my idea of a collector. He has been in business here for 15 years. Carries as high as $12,000 in notes and book accounts at a time. I never knew him to sue a man, yet he is the most successful collector I ever knew. He is rated at about $25,000 and is a very successful business man. Discounts all his bills, and enjoys a fine trade.

He has a smile for everybody. Never knew him to get angry when he is trying to collect a bill. He mingles with them, talks with them and his word is authority as to the reliability of any and all farmers. He employs no set or series of dunning letters. He treats his debtors on the square and they know it.

In conclusion, let me say that Jno. H. Brown of Atchinson, Kansas, in his article on page 68 of the March number of the MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST hits the nail on the head. Why can not we employ some of his methods in our collection department? I'm sure he would make a fine collector. He couldn't help it.

Be pleasant. Don't carry a grouch. Have a kind word for everybody and your bank account will be in better shape in the end and you will be conscious of the fact that you are a helper and not a hinder to your fellow man.—[Geo. E. Downs, Bloomfield, Neb.

"ASPIRIN-LOSLICH."—Aspirin-loslich, as the name implies, is a soluble form of aspirin, and is the trade designation of aspirin-calcium. Said to be better tolerated than ordinary acid aspirin. It is prescribed as the following mixture: Aspirin-loslich, 10 gm.; distilled water, 180 gm.; raspberry juice, 10 gm. A tablespoonful may be given three or four times a day. —[Georges (Berlin. Klin. Woch; Chem. Zentralh., 1914, 1, 122).

TRADE-MARK DEPARTMENT

By Andrew B. Remick, Trade-Mark Attorney, St. Louis.

In Looking Over the List of Trade-marks published in several recent issues of the Official Patent Gazette, I am impressed with the fact that the biggest and some of the biggest manufacturers in the United States are registering their trade-marks. For example, the Welsbach Company, probably the largest makers of gas lamps, burners and mantels in the United States, has registered its mark "Intenso"; the Niagara Paper Mills, known as one of the world's largest producers of fine papers, has applied for registration of the mark "Embassador" used as a trade name for its monthly house organ. This same company's mark "Embassador" is also used on paper, which product is known throughout the land; next I notice that the United Cigar Stores Company has applied for registration of its mark "United" in the shape of a shield as a trade-mark for candy and ice cream, hence it would appear that this great chain of retail cigar stores is going to dispense candy and ice cream over its counters throughout the United States; I see the Royal Tailors of Chicago and New York, which spends a fortune each year in advertising its Royal tailor made-to-order suits, has applied for registration of its famous "Tiger" trade-mark; jumping from clothes to soap, I am confronted by a trade-mark of James S. Kirk & Company, the big soap manufacturers of Chicago. The Fisk Rubber Company has applied for registration of its much advertised and clever trade-mark, a sleepy little boy holding up a candle along the words, "Time to re-tire?" Next I notice the trade-mark "Waxtite," a new mark of the Mammoth-Kellog Toasted Corn Flake Company; another interesting trade-mark is of Mason & Hamlin, which most of your readers have seen on not only pianos in your own home, but in the homes of your grandparents; the Patterson & Sargent Company, big paint makers, has applied for registration of its new trade-mark "Brite-lite." The Ansonia Clock Company, has applied for a new trade-mark "Ascot." Next I notice a very familiar trade-mark, which practically every person in the United States who can see has seen advertised in the four quarters of the country. It is "Colgate's ribbon" dental cream. In one week Thomas A. Edison, incorporated, has applied for registration of three new trade-marks which will be made as familiar to you as his "dictaphone"; following these marks is published one of the many trade-marks of the Standard Oil Company.

I have quoted these trade-mark registrations picked at random from the last two issues of the Patent Office Gazette for a serious reason:

The first is, that these big corporations, which could easily crush any infringer under their common law rights in their trade-marks, seek additional protection to themselves, by placing their marks on record in the Patent Office.

Second, every time a corporation registers a trad mark it is giving notice to the entire country th such a mark has been appropriated for use on certain class of goods, and said registration mak it possible for other manufacturers to find out l making a search in the trade-mark files wheth it would be safe to use a given mark.

Third: The mere fact that these big, powerf corporations, some of which have advertised the products so extensively that the world at lar knows that such marks are appropriated, seek regi tration of their marks, is indicative to me that tl more efficiently run manufacturing concerns are pa ing much more attention to their trade-marks tha they did a few years ago. I can see the time n far off when every manufacturer, no matter wh business he is engaged in, is going to pay as muc attention to the selection of new trade-marks as l is to the rest of the serious details connected wi a properly conducted business, for the simple re son that the business world is beginning to reali that under present distribution methods and adve tising a trade-mark may become the most valuab asset of the entire manufacturing plant.

Some of you drug manufacturers may wonder wh reference or relation this article has to your i dustry. I will tell you. It should indicate to yo that since your industry has the largest number trade-marks of any industry in the United State you should start right now to pay attention to n only the selection and use of new trade-marks whic may grow to be very valuable in the course of year but also to your old unregistered marks.

PRESCRIPTIONS

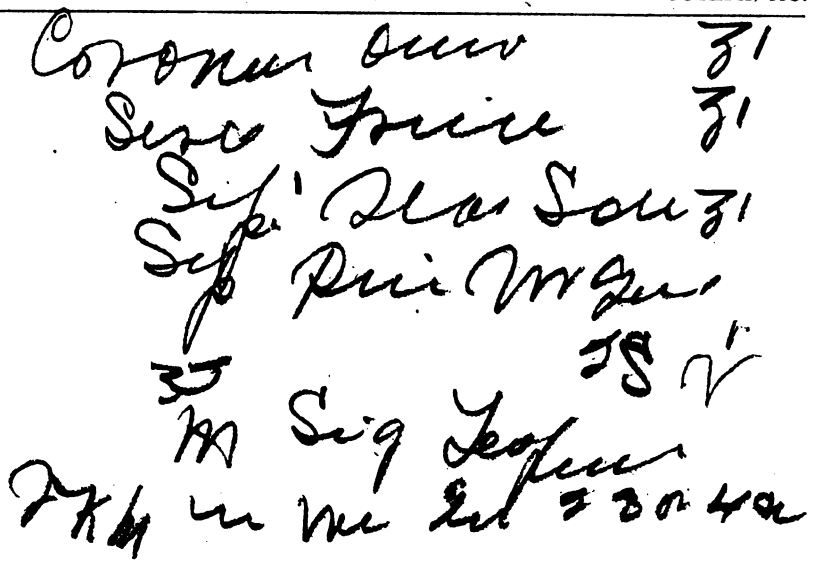
SCHELHAMER'S PHARMACY

BELL PHONE 764 629 S. EIGHTH STREET ST. JOSEPH, MO.



Why Did You Not Read it?—On page 175 of MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST for June, we published the following prescription and offered a reward for correct translations. The prescription was filled by H. L. Perkins, of St. Joseph, Mo. The ingredients wanted by the prescriber are as follows:

Ammonia Chloride	℥i
Spt. Frumenti	℥i
Syr. Yerba Santa	℥i
Sy. Pruni Virg.	q. s. ℥iv

Mix.

Sig: ℥i in water every 2 or 3 or 4 hours.

J. K. Graham.

Mr. Perkins says that it is the most difficult prescription to read that he has received during thirty years. As far as we can judge from the answers, St. Joseph. Mo., is the only place where the prescription can be correctly filled. We have received the following comments:

Mrs. L. O. Rudolph, St. Joseph, Mo.

Carb. Ammonium.	℥i
Spts. Frumenti	℥i
Syr. Yerba Santa	℥i
Syr. Pruni Virg.	q. s. ad ℥iv

Mix.

Sig: Teaspoonful in water every 2, 3 or 4 hours.

J. K. Graham.

P. E. Wolff, St. Joseph, Mo.—Learning from the June issue of MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST that you offer one year's subscription free, I thought it well worth my time to spend a few moments in studying this tedious prescription out and receive your journal for one year, for I am now a subscriber and would not be without the same.

P. S	Chloride of Ammonia	℥i
	Spts. Frumenti	℥i
	Syr. Yerba Santa	℥i
	Syr. Pruni Virg.	℥iv

Sig. Teaspoonful in water every 2, 3 or 4 hours.

H. K. G.

E. A. Searson, Ph. G.—Your Chinese puzzle on page 175 of MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST leads me to remark that as this prescription is written no one can fill it correctly. This in spite of your assertion that Mr. Parkins of St. Joseph did so. You will notice that the sign "℥" is absent after "q.s." Then no one except a pharmacist well acquainted with the vagaries of the prescriber could be dead sure as to whether he really wants 5 ounces, as it is most nearly correctly read, or whether he uses that system of heiroglyphics to indicate 4. or 6. If this came to me, and I felt in duty bound to fill it, or rather fill at it, I would go at it like this:

Carbonate of Ammonium	℥i
Syrup of Ipecac	℥i
Syrup of Squills Comp.	℥i
Syrup Wild Cherry	q. s. ad ℥v

Sig: ℥i in water every 2, 3 or 4 hours.

I'll wager a four dollar bill that no jury ever impanelled could convict me of filling it incorrectly anyway.

This reminds me that no handwriting expert had the temerity to tackle the one that I sent in, which you published some time ago. There are several Omaha men and a few others who were formerly in Omaha who can read it. One pharmacist to whom I showed it, said he was out of that kind of suppositories. In view of the fact that the physician had told the young lady how to use it, and she, being a very sensitive and very charming young lady, it was extremely fortunate that I did not read it that way.

Those hen scratches were meant to read:

℞ Resorcin, Salicylic Acid, and Sulphur Soap.

—[Scheffelins.

I enjoy MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST very much. For me it is the most interesting one I get. It first came to me in the Philippines, where "Americano" reading was thrice welcome.

TIMELY TOPICS

To Kill Flies.—A dessert-spoonful of formaldehyde in a pint of milk is a good fly poison, but other milk should be removed as the fly will not drink this milk if untreated milk is accessible.

The Time to Hit Him.—"Sometimes you have to hit a man to make him keep quiet, so that you can save him from drowning."

"Yes, and the time to do it is when he first begins to rock the boat."

Ginger Lemonade.—Squeeze one-half a large lemon in a large soda glass, add one and one-half ounces ginger syrup and a scoop of cracked ice. Fill glass with plain soda water and garnish with a thin slice of lemon and serve with a straw.

Perhaps So.—"It may be so, but I don't see how it can ever be."

"What is it?"

"My nephew says that the reason we feel so exhausted these hot days is because of the humor in the atmosphere."

When Will the New Pharmacopoeia be Out?—This question is echoed back and forth between the United States and England. The British Pharmacopoeia is promised "some time during the present summer," and the U. S. P. IX is expected before the winter of 1914.

Roach Exterminators.—Powder—Wheat flour, 2 parts; powdered sugar, 4 parts; powdered borax, 1 part; unslacked lime, 1 part.

Paste—Red lead, 1 part; Indian meal, 2 parts; molasses, enough to make a paste.

Solution—Thymol, 2 parts; salicylic acid, 2 parts; alcohol, 200 parts; oil of lemon, 1 part.

Spray to Keep Away Flies From Stock.—Only the manufacturers are certain of the composition of the mixtures you mention. Several formulas, however, have been published and from them we select the following:

1.	Synthetic oil of sassafras	4 ounces
	Crude castor (or lard, or neatsfoot) oil	2 pints
	Crude petroleum	enough to make 1 gallon
2.	Fish oil	100 parts
	Oil of tar	50 parts
	Crude carbolic acid	1 part

Professor William C. Procter, Jr., the father of American pharmacy, has been in the pharmaceutical eye for some years past.

The A. Ph. A. has raised a fund of several thousand dollars and will soon have a bronze statue erected in Washington, D. C. The ninety-seventh anniversary of Procter's birthday was celebrated at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, May 3. A dinner was followed by a trip to Mt. Olive, N. J., to visit the home and grave of Procter.

The Net Weight Regulations went into effect May 11, 1914. This is an amendment to the National Food and Drugs Act. It is liberal in its wording and, no doubt, will be interpreted in a liberal manner by the government. An allowance is made for the inaccuracies of weighing and measuring machines and the evaporation when goods are shipped from one part of the country to another. If the manufacturer intends to be honest in his weight and measure and makes an effort to do so, he need not fear the new law.

Candy in Hot Weather.—A Vermont grocer says that he finds it a good plan to exercise considerable care in the selection of candies during summer. He avoids as much as possible the nut top or nut centre candy for the reason that these nuts develop a germ similar to the weevil in cereals, and this results in complaints from customers. The rancid nut in candy is also another thing to avoid.

Chocolates must be bought very sparingly in the warm weather and disposed of promptly or they will melt down on the dealer's hands. Some retailers serve no chocolate confections during the hottest of summer.—[Grocer's Magazine.

Digest of Comments on the U. S. P. and N. F.—The Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., has just issued Bulletin No. 9 from the Hygienic Laboratory, covering in a 495-page volume the Digest of Comments on the Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary for the current year, ending December 31, 1912. This groups under appropriate headings the comments pertaining to particular subjects. Not only members of our Committee on Pharmacopoeia but all who feel interested in the revision of the Pharmacopoeia and National Formulary should study this report. A limited number of gratuitous copies are obtainable. The superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., has the Bulletin for sale.

Milk Particularly Deteriorates Rapidly Under Summer Heat, especially if it already contains bacteria. Housewives, therefore, should see to it that their milk, after being left by the milkman, does not stand for any length of time on a hot back porch or stoop before it is put in the ice box. Milk bottles should be kept closed, both in the ice box and out of it. If there is any doubt at all as to the excellence of the local milk supply, pasteurize all milk.

All foods should be kept covered or wrapped and always out of the reach of flies, which are deadly carriers of typhoid. All vessels, pitchers, etc., in which food is to be stored should first be scalded. Food should be handled as little as possible. The ice box, especially its drain pipe, should be cleaned thoroughly and frequently with boiling water and washing soda and given an occasional airing. A persistent battle should be waged against flies in all parts of the home.

Uncooked foods, as a general proposition, should be avoided. Children should not be allowed to eat the skins of fruits, especially fruits which have been exposed to flies or street dirt on unscreened stands or push carts.

THE MAN WHO MAKES A PROMISE which he does not intend to keep, and does not try to keep, should rightly be adjudged to have forfeited what should be every man's most precious possession—his honor.

No. 7, Volume X., July, 1889.—A recent examination given by the Nebraska Board of Pharmacy was reviewed by a number of the candidates. E. O. E. Gorton, of Crawford, said that the board did all it could "to make the questions as practical and understandable as possible." H. C. Engberg, of Grand Island, considered the questions "sensible and right to the point." Another candidate had passed the Kansas Board in 1886 and considered the Nebraska examination easy in comparison. J. L. Kubat, of Lincoln, was pleased that the board gave each candidate a separate desk. "It made the examination fair." Healy Robare, of Grand Island, considered all of the questions necessary to a full understanding of pharmacy. He said that his salary was immediately increased after registration. E. O. Boardman, M. D., of Overton, noted the absence of catch questions. James Duncan, of Odell, pleaded for "an interchange of certificates of registration." W. G. Scribner, of Lincoln, was happy and said, "Long live the Nebraska Board of Pharmacy examiners!" Theophilus St. Martin, Wahoo, found his experience in the St. Louis College of Pharmacy "indispensable." A candidate from Ashland was "pretty nervous," and realized that "misery likes company." He thanked the MEYER BROTHERS DRUGGIST for publishing examination questions and giving him an idea of what he could expect. D. C. Gentsch, M. D., Ph. G., of Omaha, wrote at length about the injustice of being required to pass an examination when he was graduated in pharmacy. He said that his medical diploma was credited without question. An Omaha candidate objected to the recess at noon. He said that this permitted candidates "to compare notes." He also wondered where the board found the question, "What drugs are lixivious?"

No. 8, Volume X., August, 1889.—A report of the Thirty-seventh Annual Meeting of the A. Ph. A., held at San Francisco, the week of June 24, is interesting reading at the present time. Who says that twenty-five years has solved all of the organization problems? The editor speaks of the confusion in constituting the Nominating Committee and quotes A. E. Ebert, who considered the methods unsatisfactory. Secretary J. M. Maisch gave notice that he expected to resign his office. The A. Ph. A. has a similar communication from the present secretary, Dr. J. H. Beal. It was regretted that the introductory portion of the Report on Progress of Pharmacy was not ready for reading. The place for the 1890 meeting "was as difficult as ever to select." The hope was expressed that a revised edition of the National Formulary would soon be on the market. It was pointed out that the income from annual dues failed to meet current expenses. Attention was called to the small number who presented prize essays. It was announced that the condition of the pharmacists in the regular army had been improved through the efforts of the A. Ph. A., but that more work was necessary. It was stated as being probable that the Sections on Legislation and Education would be consolidated. The revision of the Pharmacopoeia "created considerable discussion" and it developed that "the methods followed by the committee were not satisfactory to all." The Section on Commercial Interests was presided over by Chairman Leo Eliel. He stated that this section should be made of more service to pharmacy. Professor P. W. Bedford was chairman of the Section on Pharmaceutical Education. He deplored the lack of general interest in college work. The relative value of practical training before or after college lectures caused a lively discussion. The Section on Pharmaceutical Legislation did not have a single officer present. The meeting was attended by two Pullman carloads of delegates starting from St. Louis.

PROF. P. W. BEDFORD.

BRIGHT HOUSES MAKE BRIGHT TEMPERS.—"Little beds of flowers, little coats of paint, make a pleasant cottage out of one that ain't." And windows through which the sun is allowed to pour, walls covered with plain wall paper as nearly white as possible and clean, the lack of heavy hangings, making kindling wood out of a lot of funeral-looking furniture, banishing gruesome pictures, painting dead walls near to your outlook a light color and having a few plants at the window, will coat many a sour disposition with the smile of comfort and good health. Doctor, try it first on your wife and then on your patients.—[Medical Council.

Watkins.—James Allen Watkins met his death by railroad accident, at Centralia, Mo., Wednesday, July 8, 1914. He was born at Richmond, Mo., November 8, 1849. His father was Charles Allen Watkins and his mother Henrietta Rives Watkins. He came to St. Louis when twenty-one years of age and entered the employ of the Donnell & Tilden Mfg. Co., where he worked in the laboratory. He was graduated by the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, March 22, 1875.

JAMES A. WATKINS.

A few years later, he became a member of the Donnell Mfg. Co., with which he was associated until a few years ago. He then entered the retail drug business, at Union avenue and Suburban Tracks, which he successfully followed until the time of his death.

Mr. Watkins was a loyal friend and always interested in the college, the Alumni Association, his classmates and the welfare of pharmacy. He was instrumental in giving the Alumni its gavel, the college, the copper plate and picture of the class of 1875. He brought about a reunion of his class and the surviving members of the faculty on the twenty-fifth anniversary of graduation. The unique and sumptuous entertainment of his classmates in celebration of another anniversary will long be remembered.

Mr. Watkins is survived by his widow, Hattie R. Watkins, nee Purkitt, two daughters, Marie Oliver and Rosalie Prevost, and two sons, James Allen Watkins, Jr., and Charles Rives Watkins.

THE REAL TEST OF A MAN.—There are plenty of men who, through fortunate circumstances, go pretty high, yet who could not stand an hour's test of real grueling by fate. They would wilt down into whimpering cowards and abject failures. The final test of character is the things one will not do under any circumstances. There are men we instinctively know would be ground into dust and scattered to the four winds before they would yield in a matter of honor. There are men we know who would face all the disasters and pain that might come without losing their vital grip on life. Their personality is indestructible.

It is this bed-rock quality, this power of ultimate resistance, that marks a man as a real man, whether he shovels coal or sails a million-dollar yacht.—[Popular Magazine.

Pharmaceutical Conventions in England have considerable routine in common with those in America. This, we conclude after studying a series of cartoons in the British and Colonial Druggist, which are given with a report of the recent meeting of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain. The following are samples:

An admirer of the President.

The North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association held its 35th annual meeting in Hendersonville, "The Land of the Sky," on June 17-19.

The Association was very greatly honored by having with them, as a guest, Dr. James H. Beal of Scio, Ohio. Dr. Beal addressed the assembled druggists on the evening of June 18. His subject was "Legislative Matters Pertaining to Pharmacy." For an hour and ten minutes Dr. Beal spoke in his characteristic, clear-cut manner, making every word count, demonstrating his thorough knowledge of all laws, good and otherwise, which are aiding or hindering the druggists of the country, and making an appeal to everyone interested in pharmacy to fight and fight hard when measures were up for enactment into law in which the druggists are concerned.

The new officers for the coming year in the Association are:

President, G. C. Goodman, Mooresville; first vice-president, E. L. Tarkington, Wilson; second vice-president, E. G. Birdsong, Raleigh; third vice-president, C P. Greyer, Morgantown; secretary, J. G. Beard (re-elected), Chapel Hill; treasurer, G. E. Burwell (re-elected), Charlotte.

The next annual meeting will be held in Durham, N. C., on June 15, 1915. P. W. Vaughan was elected Local Secretary.

The American Medical Association has a section on Pharmacology and Therapeutics which looks after matters of pharmaceutical interest brought before the A. M. A. At the meeting held at Atlantic City, the week of June 22, Professor J. P. Remington, Chairman of the Committee of Revision of the U. S. P., submitted a report stating that the U. S. P. IX is practically completed as far as the bulk of the work is concerned. The printers now have some of the copy in hand. The general scope of the revised edition has been given in the Journal of the A. M. A. The Section on Pharmacology and Therapeutics of the A. M. A. adopted a resolution urging the Committee on Revision to make official corrosive mercuric chloride pastilles. The Council on Medical Education urged medical colleges to adopt the nomenclature of the U. S. P. IX and to use the metric system in their teaching. The Section on Pharmacology and Therapeutics elected the following officers:

Chairman, Dr. R. A. Hatcher, of New York, N. Y.; vice-chairman, Dr. J. R. Arneil, of Denver, Colo.; secretary, M. I. Wilbert, of Washington, D. C.; delegate, Dr. J. F. Anderson, of Washington, D. C.; alternate. Dr. R. L. Wilbur, of San Francisco, Cal.

The Ohio Ph. A. held the thirty-sixth annual convention at Cedar Point, on Lake Erie, July 7 to 10.

The opening session was called by President Sehl with about two hundred present.

Charles Harding, the silver-tongued orator from Cincinnati, responded to the address of welcome.

Twenty letters and telegrams of greetings from absent members, journals and associations were read and suitable answers ordered.

The following committees submitted and read their reports:

Trade Interests, by George Reiser.
U. S. P. and N. F. Propaganda, by Otto Muhlhan.
Papers and Queries, W. M. Bowman and C. R. Burnett.
Unofficial Formulae, by F. W. Kisker.
Adulteration and Sophistication, by Azor Thurston.
Drug Market, by Edward Spease.
History, by Professor Joseph Feil.
Pharmacy Laws, by L. W. Funk.
County Organization, by Charles L. McIntire.

Much interest was manifested in these reports and in the discussion that followed.

Honorable E. P. Sandles, president of the Agricultural Commission of Ohio, assured the members that the commission would be fair and equitable in all its dealings with the druggists. Honorable Thomas H. Potts, secretary of the N. A. R. D., spoke on association work and the Stevens Price maintenance bill. Professor Halepleus gave an interesting address on Olive Oil. W. A. Andrews brought out many interesting and profitable points on propaganda work with the physician. Fred R. Atchinson's paper on Stationery was well received.

Mr. Burnett conducted an "experience meeting," bringing out from each member his most profitable side line and preparation that made his fortune.

Fifty-three new members were enrolled, credit for which is due to Harrington and Schambs. Membership roll is now 1,950. This no doubt will be looked upon as the high water mark membership for our association, as the increase of dues from $2.00 to $5.00 per annum will surely decrease the membership and we no longer can boast of being the largest state association in the United States.

The Council was empowered to engage the services of an organizer and collector for the following year.

Miss Mertha Ott submitted a paper on Hospital Pharmacy, which was read by Miss Dikeman. L. H. Witte submitted a paper on Pharmacy Laws.

Resolutions condemning the Pomerene Amendment to the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Bill, resolution endorsing the Stevens Price Maintenance Bill and the recommendations in the president's address were adopted.

The officers for 1914-15 are:

President, W. M. Bowman, Toledo; 1st vice-president, Ray Start, Toledo; 2nd vict-president, C. L. Furney, Kenton; treasurer, E. W. Harrington, Columbus; secretary, Theo. D. Wetterstroem, Cincinnati; member Council, H. T. Thompson, for five years, Lima; member Council, Carl Winter, to fill unexpired term of Mr. Tielke, resigned. Prof. Kauffman was elected chairman of the Council.

Names submitted to Governor for appointment on Board of Pharmacy:

E. C. Davis, Akron; R. S. Ely, Barnesville; D. D. Neal, Gallipolis; J. C. Scott, Bethel; Carl Schmidt, Dayton.

The next annual meeting will be held at Cedar Point, on Lake Erie, July 13-16.

Delegates to the N. A. R. D. convention are H. F. Vortkamp and L. W. Funk.

To the American Pharmaceutical Association at Detroit are: L. W. Funk, Columbus; C. L. McIntire, St. Mary's; Ed. Thiesing, Cincinnati; C. L. Ashbrook, Mansfield; Jos. Albrecht, Cleveland.

J. M. McCann, of Toledo, who has been a member for twenty-four years, resigned, as he no longer is in the drug business. He was elected to associate membership.

The entertainment by the Traveling Men was more lavish than ever and all feel grateful to the Traveling Men and believe this convention was the best ever.—[Theo. D. Wetterstroem, Cincinnati, Secretary.

Mrs. J. G. Godding, Boston, Mass., is president of the Women's Section of the American Pharmaceutical Association. She has filled prominent offices in various organizations of women and it is particularly fortunate for the cause of pharmacy that Mrs. Godding is available to direct affairs of the newly instituted section of the A. Ph. A.

ALCOHOLIC MEDICINES

Revised List of Alcoholic Medicinal Preparations for the Sale of Which Special Tax is Required.

Treasury Department,
Office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue,
Washington, D. C., June 6, 1914.

To Collectors of Internal Revenue, Revenue Agents, and Others:

The accompanying list of alcoholic medicinal preparations which have been examined by this office and held to be insufficiently medicated to render them unfit for use as a beverage is published for the information of all concerned.

Special tax will be required for the sale of any of the preparations herein named, even though such sales are for medicinal use. The liabilities of dealers for sales for medicinal use of any of the preparations marked with an asterisk (*) will, however, be held to date from and after August 1, 1914.

The names of most of the preparations heretofore given on the various lists which have been published will be found included in this list, the only exceptions being those the manufacturers of which have revised their formulas to meet the requirements of this office or which are no longer on the market.

Special tax should not, therefore, be required for the sale for medicinal use of any alleged medicinal compound not on this list until this office has been communicated with and specific instructions received.

The preceding paragraph does not, however, apply to the class of compounds usually described by the term "cocktail bitters," which are suitable for and usually used as beverages.

Special tax will be required for the manufacture and sale of beef, wine, and iron, uness it contains at least the percentages of beef and iron given in the formula on page 1821 of the nineteenth edition of the United States Dispensatory or is otherwise sufficiently medicated to be unsuitable for use as a beverage. Special tax will also be required for the sale of the compound ordinarily sold under the name of rock, rye, and glycerin.

Collectors and revenue agents should continue to secure and forward to this office samples of preparations which they have reason to believe are or may be used as a beverage.

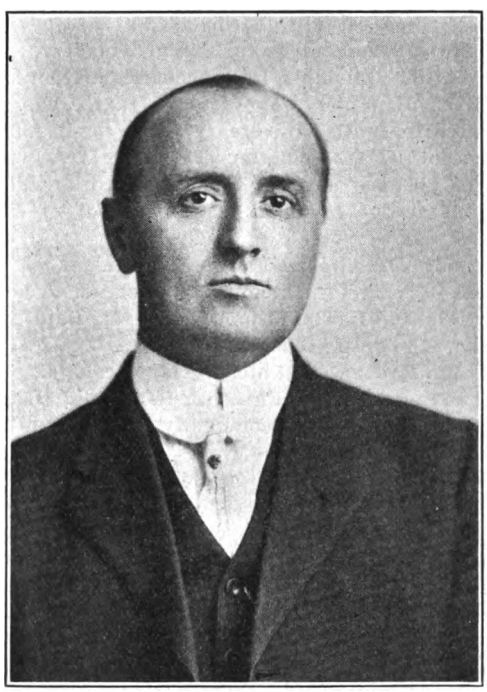
W. H. OSBORN,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue



Geo. F. Hausgen, Ph. G., entered the drug work in 1883 serving an apprenticeship of nearly four years in Washington, Mo. In 1887 he moved to Louisville, Ky., and entered the Louisville College of Pharmacy, from which institution he graduated in 1889. Mr. Hausgen was then lured to the city of St. Louis in 1890 and obtained employment with Messrs. Fahlen and Kleinschmidt at the old stand at Fourth and Walnut streets, remaining there for seven and a half years. Mr. Hausgen then became a proprietor in 1898 and since then has remained at his present location. Mr. Hausgen is a member of the Retail Druggists' Association of St. Louis, the St. Louis Pharmaceutical Society, the Cinchona Club and the St. Louis Drug Club.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Any book reviewed in this Department may be obtained upon receipt of price at the office of the Meyer Brothers Druggist.

Chemical Reagents, their Purity and Tests, authorized translation of Prufung der Chemischen Reagenzien Auf Reinheit (Zweite Auflage) von E. Merck, by Henry Schneck, A. B. (Harvard), Second Edition. New York, D. Van Nostrand Company, 25 Park Place, 1914. Price, $1.00 net.

This is a standard authority for use in the chemical laboratory and, in a new edition, has been brought thoroughly up to date. A long list of new reagents are included and a few no longer in general use have been deleted.

In giving tests for the reagents, the author has kept constantly in mind the uses of the reagents and governed the standards accordingly.

The Pharmaceutical Syllabus has reached a second edition and may be obtained from the National Syllabus Committee, Albany, N. Y. The price of a single copy is $1.25, plus ten cents postage. In quantities of ten or more, the price is $1.00 per volume, plus postage or express.

The National Committee consists of representatives of the American Pharmaceutical Association, the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy and the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties. This syllabus is based on pre-requisite, that is, college graduation before state registration. Schools of pharmacy are urged to adopt the syllabus, beginning with the session of 1914-15, and boards of pharmacy are expected to use the syllabus as a guide for their examinations, on and after July 31, 1916.

The volume of 220 pages gives rather a detailed syllabus of the work for a two years' course in a school of pharmacy. It should be carefully studied by all teachers in schools of pharmacy, all boards of pharmacy members and, after its adoption by boards of pharmacy, will constitute one of the textbooks used by candidates for registration.

Much difference of opinion very naturally exists regarding the scope and detail of such a syllabus. We do not believe that teachers and board members have given this work the preliminary study which it deserves Many of those who should be most interested have failed to realize that such a syllabus is a necessary outcome of pharmaceutical education and pharmacy laws in this country. As the syllabus grows in importance and official influence it will receive attention from the faculties and board members. Much of this will come in the form of criticism, when it should have been contributed as constructive work during the revision period of the syllabus.

TRICALCOL.—A substance for increasing the calcium and albumin content of milk is thus named, and is stated to be a colloidal calcium-albumin phosphoric acid compound. A white, odorless, tasteless powder, containing about 20 per cent of tricalcium phosphate and 10·5 per cent nitrogen. Readily soluble in dilute sodium carbonate or bicarbonate solutions, forming opalescent fluids. The faintly alkaline solution may be boiled without precipitating the calcium phosphate. Prepared by W. Wolff and Co., Elberfeld, Germany.—[Pharm. Zeit., 1913, 58, 631.

J. A. Wilkerson, Gus Kinkhorst, Francis Sum, Jr., George Burkart, A. F. Assman, Saint Louis, have on exhibition in their drug stores some very rare and pretty souvenirs which they collected on their recent trip to Niagara Falls. The party never tire of telling their friends of their visit through the great pharmaceutical and biologic laboratories at Detroit, of the splendid service on the lake vessel, and of what they saw at the Falls. Mr. Wilkerson lost some valuable time at Buffalo in answering calls for a counterpart in name, and now he is seeking a trade-mark for the word "Jerry." Mr. Burkhart added a new word to his vocabulary and spells it "HI." George learned it from a cab driver at Queen Victoria Park and says that when translated means "slow pay." Mr. Assman was the route-man and will issue a report on the best way to go to Lewiston. The "Maid of the Mist" and the book agent with the "dollar-bill necktie" took up most of Mr. Sum's time. Mr. Kinkhorst retained his dignity until he was initiated into the "Stuck Up Club." Gus says that at Horseshoe Falls he first learned the value of U. S. money in Canadian equivalents.

PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATIONS

New Hampshire Ph. A. held its forty-first annual meeting at New Castle, June 30 to July 1. The following officers were elected:

President, P. H. Boire, of Manchester; vice-presidents, B. P. Porter, of Ashland, and S. S. Lightbody, of Rochester; secretary, Eugene Sullivan, of Concord; treasurer, S. H. Bell, of Derry; members of the executive committee, C. E. Tilton, of Portsmouth; A. E. Wallace, of Nashua; and Eugene Sullivan, of Concord; and auditor, J. H. Marshall, of Manchester.

Next year the association will meet at New Castle.

"Of Course" you are coming to the A. Ph. A. Convention, which will be held in Detroit the week of August 24, 1914.

The Committee of Arrangements have planned a most elaborate program for your entertainment, the principal features of which will be a Reception and Grand Ball on Monday evening, August 24; the music for this occasion will be furnished by a famous Berlin Orchestra of 16 pieces, other attractive features will be a Theatre Party, Dinner, Card Parties, Shopping Expeditions, and a boat ride to Bob Lo Park and Dinner for the ladies and a Smoker and Vaudeville performance for the men, a daylight ride to the "Flats," the "Venice of America," on the palatial steamer Brittania, a four-hour ride through our Parks and Boulevards, for all; so much for your pleasure and entertainment.

The same care has been exercised in arranging the Business Program, so that the various sections will not conflict, so you can attend any or all of them as you desire; there will be no tedious waits, as the gavel will fall at the appointed time; in fact this meeting will be an INNOVATION to you, so just throw a few things in your grip, and come along, and bring the ladies with you, as every preparation is being made for their care and comfort.

Last Call for the N. A. R. D. Convention in Philadelphia, the week of August 17.

With the most elaborate entertainment program in the history of the national organization, the Philadelphia Association of Retail Druggists is eagerly awaiting the arrival of fellow pharmacists and their wives and families from all over the United States. Chairman Charles Rehfuss of the Convention Committee is prepared for a registration of 1,800, and the bigger the crowd, the warmer the welcome—numbers will make no difference in the matter of accommodation and entertainment.

A review of these entertainment features shows the care, time and expense that the committee has devoted to its program for the week. Features will be the President's reception and ball on Monday evening. August 17, at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel, convention headquarters, and the formal opening of the Drug Show on the same floor of the big hotel. On Tuesday the ladies registered will be taken on an automobile tour of the city and its environs. The same evening, a demonstration by professional dancers under the spotlight of the Maxixe, the hesitation, the Argentine, the one-step and other popular dances, so widely discussed, will be a startling feature of a ball in the beautiful ballroom of the Bellevue Stratford.

On Wednesday afternoon, the ladies will be the guests of John Wanamaker in a tour through the big department store with a musicale in the Court of Honor. In the evening Chapter No. 6, W. O. N. A. R. D., will give an entertainment. Thursday will be "Scottissue Day," When the Scott Paper Company will be the hosts on a river excursion down the Delaware to the company's big plant at Chester. Luncheon, music and hydroplane racing and dancing, with a stop at busy League Island Navy Yard, will be features of the day's outing.

The following day, "Wampole Day," those registered will be the guests of Henry K. Wampole & Company on an excursion to Willow Grove Park. Special cars will pass through the most beautiful sections of the city and suburbs to the famous park, where after luncheon in the Casino a registration badge will constitute a pass to every attraction along the big Midway.

The business of the convention will be dispatched promptly, so as not to encroach upon the time assigned to these entertainment features. After this elaborate week, many of the visitors will run down to Atlantic City and other resorts along the New Jersey seacoast—only an hour's ride—for the week-end—before starting back home. Every loyal N. A. R. D. member is urged to make a special effort to attend the Philadelphia convention, which promises to be the largest and most enjoyable yet held.

ARE YOU A VEGETARIAN? Experiments on rats at Leland Stanford University have justified the conclusion that vegetable diet produces about a third as much energy as a mixed diet; that the former produces less growth and tends to shorten life. The vegetable diet produced lassitude, while the mixed diet produced energy, and almost doubled the length of life.

USEFUL NOTES

Cement for Glass or Porcelain.—Starch, 60 Gm., nd finely pulverized chalk, 100 Gm., are placed in . mixture of equal parts of water and alcohol. To his is added strong glue, 30 Gm., the mixture boiled, nd Venice turpentine, 30 Gm., added, with careful gitation.—[Kuhle (Bull. du Musée de l'Indust., hrough Journ. Pharm. Chim., April 16, 1914, XXXII).

Acid-Proof Lining for Tanks.—Litharge, 10; short ibre asbestos, 20; sand, 70. These are mixed thor- ughly, and made into a suitable paste with a 40° Bé. solution of silicate of soda. It can be applied s thick as desired. An application of acid, after rying, will set the cement, and render it acid-proof. —[Met. and Chem. Eng., through Chem. Eng. and Works Chem., April, 1914, 119.

A Practical Suggestion.—When selling hot water ags it would be a good idea to tell the customer hat when the bag has been filled with hot water, it s advisable to press the sides of the bag together efore screwing on the cap. When this is done all he steam is forced out and there will be very little anger of the bag ripping, no matter how hot the vater is.—[Notions and Fancy Goods.

How to Clean Show Cases.—The best and most ractical method of dusting show cases is the use f a three or four-ounce bottle filled with denatured lcohol and ammonia. In the neck of the bottle is nserted a fluted cork for sprinkling the liquid. The luid from the bottle is squirted on top of the show ase and a clean piece of cheese-cloth is used imme- iately after to wipe the glass dry. The mop acts s a dustless duster, and the show cases shine like mirror at all times.—[Sign of the Times.

Cement for Metals, Etc.—A paste, more or less hin according to requirements, is made by mixing ntimately litharge in very fine powder with the re- uired quantity of glycerin. The product when used s a cement hardens in ten to thirty minutes. It ay be used for all the metals, and, in fact, for any olid bodies. It resists the attack of concentrated cids, ether, alcohol, benzin, soda solution, and car- on disulphide, so that the cemented articles may be ept under water and many other liquids.—[L'Office him., through Journ. Pharm. Chim., May 16, 1914, L.

Preservation of Wood.—Diatomaceous earth is round so fine that 92 per cent of it passes through 200-mesh screen. It is then mixed with melted araffin and naphthalene, and the wood immersed n the mixture for four hours. The wood, it is said, permeated to the centre, and not only resists in- ects and decay, but gains in resilience. Less than lbs. of the composition is required for the treat- ent of each cubic foot of timber. Hard woods, ke white oak, which resist other treatment, yield this preservative. The process of creosoting kes three to six times as long. The method is own as the Marr process.—[Sci. Amer., through hem. Trade Journ., April 25, 1914, 476.

WORKING FORMULAS

Typewriter Inks.—(1) Aniline dye, soluble in oil, 2 parts; carbolic acid, 2 parts; castor oil, 2 parts; oil of cassia, 1 part. (2) An aqueous ink can be made by grinding aniline dye, soluble in water, sufficient according to color, with acetic acid, ¼ oz.; distilled water, 1¼ oz.; glycerin, 4 oz.; alcohol (90 per cent), 4 oz.—[Pitman's Phonetic Journal.

Incompatibility of Borax and Cocaine.—Demandre finds that the precipitation of cocaine hydrochloride solutions by borax may be obviated by dissolving the latter salt in glycerin before adding it to the cocaine solution, and that the precipitate formed on mixing aqueous solutions of the two salts may be redissolved by the addition of glycerin.—[Journ. de Pharm. d'Anvers, 58, 130.

Phosphorised Oil.—K. Dieterich recommends saturating phosphorised oil with CO_2 as a method of preventing the oxidation of the phosphorus. He has found that oil thus treated maintains its full percentage of unoxidised phosphorus for six months, while another portion not so treated had lost 50 per cent of the active ingredient.—[Journ. Pharm. d'Anvers, 58, 56; after Pharm. Post.

Polish for Automobiles.

Yellow wax	1 ounce
Benzin, deodorized	7 ounces
Alcohol	30 minims
Ammonia water	15 minims
Oil of lavender flowers	15 minims

Shake well before applying. It should be remembered that a polish is only effective when accompanied by hard rubbing with a soft cloth.—[The Journal of the N. A. R. D.

A Peroxide Tooth Powder.—An efficient tooth powder that will liberate enough free oxygen to make 40 to 50 drops of a 3 per cent peroxide solution for every 10 grains used on the brush in the mouth is as follows: Magnesium peroxide (200 mesh sieve), 60 parts; sodium perborate, 30 parts; Castile soap and flavoring, 10 parts. This can be used morning and evening for brushing the teeth, and should be swashed around the interstices for a full minute before being ejected from the mouth.—[J. Head, M. D., D. D. S. (Journ. TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

The Missouri Board Reorganizes.—At a meeting in Kansas City, July 21, the Missouri Board of Pharmacy elected Charles Gietner, St. Louis, president; R. A. Doyle, East Prairie, vice-president; Edwin G. Cox, Craig, secretary. W. C. Bender, St. Joseph, and Charles E. Zinn, Kansas City, complete the board.

RABBITS are a plague in some sections of the earth. It was in a limited sphere that a student objected to rabbits. When called on by the landlady to say grace, he repeated the following:

"For rabbits young and rabbits old,
For rabbits hot, and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough,
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!"

COLLEGE NEWS

University of Illinois School of Pharmacy.—The longer course in the school of pharmacy leading to the degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist closed June 5; the degree was conferred upon Paul Wright Edgett, Gennaro Dominic Lavieri, Albert Schreiner, Jr., George Stulik, George F. Vaupell and Edgar Philip Heidbreder.

The Advisory Board held its annual meeting at the school June 4. There were present at the meeting, George C. Lescher of Galesburg, A. G. C. Ackermann and Herman Fry of Chicago, as well as the faculty of the school.

The Chicago Veteran Druggists' Association has presented to the school the silver loving cup which was presented to Albert E. Ebert in 1905 and upon his death reverted to the C. V. D. A.

HIGHLAND FLINGS.

Highland Park College, Des Moines, Iowa.

Prof. Zuker is a 1914 member of the Iowa Collegiate Athletic Conference.

John Masucci, Ph. C., '14, is in a store at Glenwood, Ia. He is expected to return in the fall for some special work.

Leo Peterson, '14, passed the last Wyoming Board examination. His many friends hope that he will be at the College for his "C" next year.

Dean E. O. Kagy, of the College of Pharmacy, made much of the smaller part of Grumpy, the fussy English servant in "A Quiet Family," July 7. His suppressed laugh that once broke loose, was particularly good. The box office receipts were for the benefit of the Debating Club.

Letters have been mailed, or will soon be mailed, to all former graduates to learn their addresses, year, etc., for the Alumni Directory of the College. If received, please quickly reply. It will make a hard job easier. If any graduate is not sure that the Dean has his or her present address and graduation year, send the information. A letter may have failed to reach you.

STRICTLY UNOFFICIAL

The Day of Slides is at Hand.—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat refers to land slides in Panama, lantern slides in Vera Cruz and slides to second base in the base ball leagues of the country.

Keep at It.

If you have hard work to do,
Do it now.
Today the skies are clear and blue,
Tomorrow clouds may come in view.
Yesterday is not for you;
Do it now.

For of Such, Etc.—Teacher—Everything in our schoolroom belongs to one of three kingdoms—our wooden desks to the vegetable kingdom, our slates and pens to the mineral kingdom, and all you children to the animal kingdom.

Little Girl—Please, teacher, I fink you are mistaken, for my mamma says that all little children belong to the kingdom of Heaven.

One on Bill Willman.—William Willman, Ph. G., a progressive pharmacist of Brownville, Tex., had a new boy of whom he was very proud, a young man of industry and "judgment." All went well until the boy in cleaning up the back room threw away a package of asafoetida because it was "spoiled, rotten and stunk."

Of course it was not in air tight packages.

President Mayo's Tongue Twisters.—President-elect Caswell A. Mayo, of New York City, invented some new tongue twisters which he tried on his friends during a social gathering at the Nashville meeting of the A. Ph. A. in 1913. While preparing his speech of response to be given when he is installed as president, at Detroit, the week of August 24, he, no doubt, constructed a new series of tongue twisters. In order to be able to follow Editor Mayo in his elocutionary exploits, we suggest that our readers practise on the following:

"Flesh of freshly fried flying fish."

"A growing gleam glowing green."

"The bleak breeze blighted the bright broom blossoms."

Try repeating rapidly several times, "Six little thistle sticks," or "A noisy noise annoys an oyster," or "Give Grimes Jim's great gilt gig whip," or "The sea ceaseth but it sufficeth us."

Sometimes the shortest are the hardest. If you don't believe this just repeat "Mixed biscuits" five or six times as fast as you can, and if you succeed in this, you may meet your match in "Troy boat."

The illiterative "s" is one too many for most tongues. Try saying over and over again, "Six slender saplings" just as rapidly as you can say it and see if you don't get the words beautifully twisted. If you do this without mishap, then you're equal to "Six thick thistle sticks" or "Strict strong Stephen Stringer snared slickly six sickly silky snakes."

How does the laity learn the use of the newer synthetic remedies?

ODD ORDERS

Zinc Ointment was dispensed by the National Drug Co., St. Louis, on an order calling for

"5c Cinc Solm."

Properly Coated were the pills dispensed by A. R. Scheu, Kenwood Springs, Mo., on an order for:

"5 cts compond Jelleton Cathartic Pills."

Mucilage was furnished by Luther H. Buchanan, Robinson, Ill., on an order for

"one Battle af musage 5c"

and it stuck.

Not Puzzling but amusing was the following order for paregoric, filled by N. F. Masterson, Bertrand Drug Co., Bertrand, Mo.:

"pargork 10 c."

Sal Hepatica was dispensed by Dale Mayswinkle, Kansas City, Kan., at the D. G. Jones Drug Store, when he received an order for:

"Pallephie Bot. 25."

Mixed Secumdum Artem were the ingredients which Luther H. Buchanan, Robinson, Ill., used in the following odd order:

"Grose of seppermint 25c, Wood Alchole 25c."

Boston is not proud of the following order, filled by Albert Guy, Guy-Graham Drug Co., Montgomery City, Mo.:

"Boston of Superior sweet spirits of niter oil of tuble."

Dragon's Blood and oil of geranium were dispensed by Mrs. B. G. Huffman, St. Louis, on an order for,

"5c in Sain dry goons blood.
5 olal of yestaing mom."

Worse Than Anticipated.—W. H. Zimmerman, Ph. G. '10, Nineteenth and Cass avenue, St. Louis, filled a written order calling for saffron tea. He suggested to the little girl who presented it that a case of measles was at home; when she said "No," he guessed it was chickenpox, but again she shook her head. When questioned further, the little girl said, "It's twins."

A Missouri Batch of orders from R. A. Doyle, East Prairie:

1. Goomaccum (gualac).
2. 5 cents worth of puddy
   5 cents worth of brace head cacks (brass head tacks).
3. fish louer (fish luxe).
4. glass Crange Blunt 5c Made Cated Coten Mall f eney (glass syringe blunt. Medicated cotton, small if any).
5. Okiznic.
6. Oil of Creosolt 10c.
7. 15 cts worth rose sulphmate pt turpentine.
8. Perry of Phroxaside (H_2O_2).

The following is a wonderful whooping cough cure, but the customer kicked about the price:

9. Syrup Squil 1 ℥
   Syrup Cherry 1 ℥
   Spts. Nite ½ ℥
   Glycerine 1 ℥
   Oil Tar ½ ℥
   Kerosene ½ ℥
   Mullein Teat ½ pt. Honey to make a syrp.

PLASTER TRADE REVIVED

THE "ALWAYS-FRESH" KIND DOES IT

Henry's Plasters

are packed in airtight tubes (with the exception of the Kidney, which comes in a sealed envelope), thus insuring permanent freshness and retaining the full strength of each, indefinitely. The nine different Henry's Plasters present not only a complete assortment of time-tried and tested formulas but our method of packing makes them quick sellers. The following kinds are packed "The Henry Way":

Henry's Belladonna Plaster
Henry's Bellad. and Cap. Plaster
Henry's Capsicum Plaster
Henry's Cough Plaster
Henry's Kidney Plaster
Hall's Menthol Plaster
Henry's Porous Plaster
Henry's Rheumatic Plaster
Henry's Strengthening Plaster

Filling a Long Felt Want

People are tired of buying plasters with the medicinal and adhesive qualities lost through exposure. The plaster that is exposed to the air and lies on the shelf for weeks and months discourages plaster trade. In other words, one poor dried-up measly plaster will do your store more harm than you imagine. Hasn't it been your experience that the people want fresh goods and are willing to pay for them? Stop selling 15-cent Plasters. You can get 25 cents each for Henry's. They sell tomorrow, next week, or next month or year with the same results—satisfaction and repeat sales. Better investigate.

Our Co-Operative Advertising and Attractive Selling Plans

Remember, we're the people that manufacture those famous Take-a-way Headache Bandages that you've seen advertised so much. Recollect our previous offers on "movie" advertising slides and window posters? We're helping hundreds of stores to built up trade—you, too, should receive the benefit of our wide publicity service.

Then, too, remember the Hall selling plan. Our line of Plasters, Suspensory Bandages and Surgical Dressings is sold to the trade at 25% discount through the jobber, enabling you to buy goods in small quantities on short notice without tying up a lot of money in stock to deteriorate on your shelves. Thus you see we work with you both in advertising and selling. Better write for more information at once. You'll be mighty glad you did.

as a Preventive of Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease), and is concededly unequaled as a prophylactic dentifrice for general use.

READ THIS FIRST

Does an open sore of any kind either on man or beast heal by gowth? The answer is, no.

All open sores heal by deposit and not by growth. The small veins are the avenues which bring out the new flesh and deposits on the outside. And it spreads from one vein to another, filling up the space between the little veins. This deposit sets and makes new flesh for the purpose of building up the parts which have been torn away. It takes the place of the skin while building and excludes the air and water.

Cornell's Electric Liniment

Is the only preparation on the market that really assists nature in healing up an open sore.
It is an antiseptic, removes all inflammation from the woun does not leave a scar or blemish.

Doctor B. F. Cornell -:- Edgewood, Mo.

The NEW ROYAL MASTER-MODEL 10

"THE MASTER MACHINE that need not be traded out"
FEATURE No. 7

THIS typewriter masterpiece, the New Royal "10," was created to meet the modern demand of "BIG BUSINESS" for the typewriter that need not be traded out. So fast is the strenuous pace of modern business that there is no longer time or logical reason to "trade out" periodically machines made of iron and steel. And the expense of it in the aggregate is enormous!

Built for "Big Business" and its Great Army of Expert Operators

"Big Business" demanded a typewriter of long-term service, that must improve the presswork and stand the modern "grind" at high speed for years without trading out. For years, men who have done big things—heads of great corporations and far-seeing executives have been asking: "Why is it necessary to trade out typewriters every little while? Is it because they have been built to be traded out?"

The ANSWER to this big question is the new Royal Master-Model 10, which is built for long-term service, not to be "traded out."

We believe the No. 10 Royal will outlast any other writing-machine in the world. It will stand the grind. Turn the machine sideways and you can see daylight right through it. Mark the absence of complicated mechanism. It's what you don't find there—a 1,000 working-parts less-than-others—that proves the Royal's durability. Here at last is the master-machine—the typewriter that won't "die young!"

Get the Facts!

Send for the "Royal Man" and ask for a DEMONSTRATION. Or write us direct for our new Brochure, "Better Service," and a beautiful Color Photograph of the new ROYAL MODEL 10—"THE MACHINE WITH A PERSONALITY"—Read our advertisements in Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Everybody's, System, Cosmopolitan, Hearst's, Business, Metropolitan, McClure's, and many more! "Write now—right now!"

Unusual Kind of City Advertising.—Chattanooga, Tenn., is possibly one of the best known cities in the world, not from the fact that a historic battle took place there, but largely through the extensive advertising of the Chattanooga Medicine Company in popularizing their Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black Draught. Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce a large sign, illuminated by a 2,000 candle lamp and reflector, has been installed recently in the manufacturing district and is advertising the city as the "Dynamo of Dixie," "The Hyrdo-Electric City."

"The Cheapest Man in Town"

Said Mr. Jones, when at 2 A.M. he went to take a dose of medicine and the cork broke off. "Too tight to buy good corks." After groping for the light and stubbing his toe, he said quite a few things, among them: "That druggist'll never get another cent out of me." Now had that druggist been a user of he would still have Mr. Jones as a customer, not because Mr. Jones knows much about corks but because Circle A Corks won't break off. They are made from the finest, close-grained corkwood and are practically flawless. Each one is bright and clean.

Think how many Mr. Joneses may be saying things about you. Then send 20c in stamps for a trial package of 100 Circle A's in assorted sizes.

A FEW REASONS

Why the Retail Drug Trade delight in recommending and pushing

O-ZO-NOL

First, they soon discover that Ozonol makes more satisfied customers than anything they ever handled in the "Skin Ointment" line.

Second, the Ozonol Chemical Company, are doing something every minute to move Ozonol:—Newspaper advertising, house to house distribution of samples in the towns, samples and advertising matter mailed to the R. F. D. customers, window displays furnished the druggists, and in fact, with the co-operation of the man behind the drug counter, there is nothing being left undone to "boost" his sale of Ozonol.

Third, the price is RIGHT. 100 per cent profit in three dozen lots. Put this memorandum on your "want book" NOW; and remember, with your co-operation, we guarantee the sale:—3 doz. Ozonol 25c size, at $2.00 per doz. ½ doz. Ozonol 50c size FREE. 100 Ozonol Samples FREE. A Window Trim, if you will drop us a card. Total cost $6.00, retails for $12.00, net profit $6.00, or 100%. The trade supplied by Meyer Brothers Drug Co., and all other jobbers.

MURRAY'S CHARCOAL TABLETS

New 10 Cent Size

are now sold in handsome metal boxes clean and secure. The urgent demand from the drug trade to furnish this universal favorite in 10 cent size has necessitated our supplying Murray's Charcoal Tablets in two sizes at 10 cents and 25 cents per package. The 25 cent size contains more than double what the old style did and the 10 cent size about ⅓ the quantity of the larger. The success and popularity of Murray's Charcoal Tablets has induced such a number and variety of imitations of this famed article that we feel it a duty to call the attention of our friends, the druggists, to this superior and meritorious article which has held its supremacy purely through quality of material and care in manufacturing since their introduction of 1877. Any of the old style in stock will be cheerfully exchanged for the new through your dealer or direct.

The larger size contains three times the quantity for 25 cents.

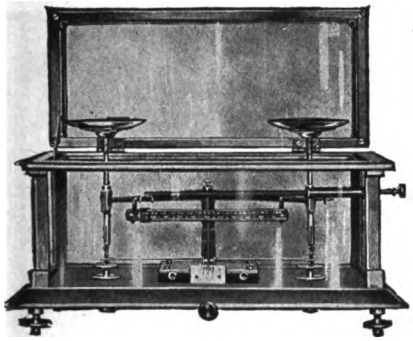
New Triumph Plate Glass Box Prescription Scale



Entirely new Box Prescription Scale. The working parts of the scale are displayed. The scale is enclosed in a Bevelled Plate Glass box. The works are of brass and nickel plated, the bearings are agate.

The scale is provided with a side beam, graduated on the top row from 1-10th grain up to 15 grains; the bottom row is divided from 1 centigram to 1 gram. The rider on the side beam is worked from the outside right-hand side of the case by an automatic-lift rider carriage.

There is nothing about this scale to get out of order—No wires to snap or break, no patented tricks to complicate it and get out of order and make trouble. Having agate bearings, it is like the wise men's house. It is built upon the rock, hence there will be but one expense in using this scale—the original purchase price.

The scales are furnished, in two styles of wood mouldings, antique oak and mahogany.

omb Tip 7.—How do you handle your stock of combs? Usually in a jumbled assortment of all sizes and styles—some in one drawer or show case, some in another—and never where you can place your hands on them or where they can be seen to the best advantage?

How inconvenient to handle over a lot of combs for a particular size or style. How annoying to yourself and to your waiting customer. Adopt the modern and convenient way of displaying combs. Write the Harburg Comb Company, 335 Broadway, New York City, manufacturers of the well-known Revelation and Olive Doré Combs for particulars How to Display Combs and for illustrated price catalog.

/hen You Sell "Night and Day Goggles" you are rendering a valuable service in helping to prevent automobile accidents and are making a handsome profit for yourself. This two-color goggle is described in the T. A. Willson & Co. advertisement appearing on page 53 of this issue.

An additional feature of the "Night and Day Goggle" is its soft silk bridge band, which of course adjusts itself to any face, and permits goggles to cling more closely all around, preventing space between the goggle and face. Dust and flying particles therefore cannot penetrate. It is made with soft, well-ventilated leather sides and pliable, cable temples going back of the ears, which give complete comfort.

ell Shac at Your Fountain.—The national advertising campaign which Frederick Stearns & Co. are conducting in the well known and widely circulated magazines has greatly increased the demand for Shac in all parts of the country.

With the coming of the hot summer months Shac should be your big selling relief for aching heads, and especially is this true at your soda fountain. Every day your dispensers are frequently asked: "What's good for a headache?" Impress upon them that their answer should be, "Shac."

There are many reasons why Shac should be pushed at your fountain—Shac is easy to take—quick in action—nationally advertised—and Shac pays a good, big profit to the druggist who pushes it.

luckeye Deep Seamless Screw Lid Boxes.—The Deep Seamless Screw Lid Boxes recently added to the line of Tin Containers manufactured by The Buckeye Stamping Co., Columbus, O., are drawn from bright tin plate and are very light in weight. Their cost is one-third less than the cost of glass jars. They are strong, rigid and cannot break.

An addressed label may be pasted on the lid or around the body and the box will carry safely through the mails. The further expense of a mailing case is unnecessary.

The Deep Seamless Screwlid Boxes are designed for Ointments, Pastes, Cold Creams, Dressings, etc. They are made in 2⅝, 4, 5, 8, 10, 12 and 16-oz. fluid capacities. The Buckeye Stamping Co. will be glad to mail samples to those interested.

The "Night and Day Goggle" has all the features of the ordinary goggle for day driving, with the additional feature of an extra segment in the top of each lens. The main and lower section of the glass is of light amber, and the vision is through this portion for ordinary driving.

Above this, in the top of the lens, however, is a smaller segment of darker amber, and when the driver is confronted by dazzling headlights at night he simply tips his head to bring vision through this dark segment, which so reduces the glare that the approaching machine and roadway can be seen with perfect clearness.

While this extra dark segment was added particularly for strong headlights at night, it was also proven to be a great advantage when driving along seashore, sand or ordinary roads in the glare of bright sunshine. This dark segment then acts as a shade or "cap visor," affording protection from the very strong daylight.

No Question as to When the Druggist Gets On.—The live druggist wants to know where he "gets on"—and if the place is not pointed out with some degree of definiteness, he stays off.

Perhaps that is why in a recent advertisement of the Abbott Alkaloidal Company, Ravenswood, Chicago, the druggist's profit on a case of Abbott's Saline Laxative is figured out to a cent. The case contains six dozen bottles of the laxative—the retail price of which is 50 cents a bottle, or $36 for the case. The cost, at $4 a dozen, is $24, and from this a discount of 15 per cent is deducted, leaving the net cost $20.40. When orders received direct amount to $10 net or more, delivery is prepaid. This shows a clear profit to the druggist of $15.60.

The Abbott goods are advertised, and the druggist who gives them a prominent display and throws in an encouraging word now and then, should have little difficulty in disposing of them in a short enough time to make his turn-over as satisfactory as his profit.

SERVICE.—When we try to serve the world (or to understand it), we touch what is divine. We get our dignity, our courage, our joy in work because of the greatness of the far-off end always in sight, always attainable, never at any moment attained. Service is one of the ways by which a tiny insect like one of us can get a purchase on the whole universe. If we find the job where we can be of use, we are hitched to the star of the world, and move with it.—[Cabot: What Men Live By.
